Soviet Torpedoes Disarm Talks Over West Protests

Reds Walk Out Amid Allied Cry Of Hooliganism

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet-led Communist bloc walked out of the 10-nation disarmament talks Monday in a tumult of shouted Western charges of hooliganism and scandal.

The walkout stamped a finish to the hopes of slowing down the arms and nuclear weapons races for the present.

An all-Western rump conference continued to sit after the walkout to assess the damage.

The five Western delegates branded as illegal the adjournment of the conference by the day's chairman, Polish Deputy Foreign Minister Marian Naszkowski, while they were vainly clamoring for the floor.

But their decision to meet again Tuesday on the slim hope that the Reds would show up was mainly reminiscent of the Western summit leaders' wait in Paris in mid-May for Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to come around after his lashings at President Eisenhower.

A Communist source said the continued sitting by Britain, France, the United States, Italy and Canada was utterly ludicrous.

Verbatim Record Released
The tumult over the dramatic walkout was disclosed in the verbatim record released Monday night.

Naszkowski called on his four Communist colleagues one by one, then spoke himself, to justify the walkout. The record then went like this:

"Naszkowski: 'That was my statement in my capacity as representative of Poland. Now, as chairman, I should like to say that, after the statements made by the representatives of the five Socialist (Communist) states, the work of the 10-nation committee is now discontinued, and it is quite clear that the role of the chairman has been exhausted.'

"The representatives of Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Romania and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics started to withdraw from the meeting.

"Jules Moch (France): 'On a point of order, Mr. Chairman. I asked you to recognize me. I asked to speak, Mr. Chairman. Do you know the rules of procedure? What a scandal!'

"David Ormsby-Gore (Britain): 'A point of order, Mr. Chairman.' "Frederick M. Eaton (United States): 'Point of order.' "

Khrushchev Blames West
Moch called the attitude and walkout of the Communist delegate "a scandal . . . hooliganism . . . a shameful performance."

Khrushchev accused the West Monday night of torpedoing the conference with futile discussion. In a note to President Eisenhower and to Britain and France, broadcast by Moscow, Khrushchev said Western disarmament proposals were a plan for legalized military espionage. The United States made it plain at the abortive summit meeting in Paris, he said, that it did not intend to break the disarmament deadlock.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin told the conference the Western powers had used the talks to camouflage a buildup of modern arms.

The U.S. State Department accused the Soviet bloc of shattering the hopes of all peoples for progress toward peace and appealed to them to return to the negotiations. A statement issued in Washington described the walkout as "both deplorable and disappointing."

Quakes Rock Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Three strong earthquakes and a series of light shocks shook quake-devastated southern Chile Monday. No damage was reported.

Hampered By It All

Theodora Eagleiden, 31, shows how she sat in hamper basket to be delivered to the home of the man she loves in London, England. More than two years ago she went to work in office of Gerry Burrow, 37. She claims she fell in love with him. Her love was not returned. After other methods failed, Theodora got the idea of having herself delivered to his front door. She paid $28 for the hamper and $14 to have it delivered. Burrow was not amused when he found out what happened. He wants to forget her. She said he made her promise not to try to see him for six months. When time is up she "intends to get my man." (Story on page 2) (AP Photofax via radio from London)

Brown And Meyner Kennedy 'Holdouts'

GLACIER NATIONAL PARK, Mont. (AP)—The California and New Jersey governors refused Monday to throw any immediate support to Sen. John F. Kennedy's attempt to clinch the presidential nomination before the Democratic National Convention begins.

But they are going to meet Tuesday with the uncommitted governors of two other states—Kansas and Iowa—for a favorite-sons political session.

The session will bring together Govs. Edmund G. Brown of California, Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey, George Docking of Kansas, and Herschel C. Loveless of Iowa. This is a key quartet. Among them, these governors will lead to the Democratic convention at Los Angeles next month delegations with 169 of the 761 votes needed to swing the presidential nomination.

Supporters of Kennedy contend the Massachusetts senator already has more than 700 votes in sight. But that includes some they are counting already from the four uncommitted states.

Brown told a news conference his personal preference is between Kennedy, the Massachusetts senator, and Adlai E. Stevenson, the party nominee of 1952 and 1956.

He said Stevenson told him three weeks ago that he would accept a draft. Stevenson since has said he is not a candidate.

Asked whether he thought the four governors could agree on some course of united action, he replied with a smile: "I can't tell you whether that is in the air or not."

Brown also said he has no intention of revealing where the California delegation will turn ultimately, nor would he state his own preference between Kennedy and Stevenson.

He said he expects to get California's 81 votes on the first ballot at Los Angeles but that the picture could change before the first roll call is over.

Meyner took a similar stance with reference to what New Jersey's delegation will do.

Kennedy still may reach his goal of blitzing the convention on the first ballot at Los Angeles next month. And he still could get a sizable assist from the California and New Jersey delegations in doing it.

The country's governors were busy talking politics on the side and discussing the whole field of education in their formal business session.

Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker of Canada was given the honors of addressing the governors' black-tie dinner Monday night.

It takes 761 votes to put over a nominee.

Tanker Sinking; Sends Out SOS

MIAMI (UPI)—The Coast Guard said Monday night that a 501-foot tanker radioed that it was sinking in the Atlantic about 160 miles east of Savannah, Ga.

The Coast Guard said the vessel, the S. S. George MacDonald, reported water intake boxes in the engine room had exploded and the ship was taking water rapidly.

The Coast Guard immediately dispatched two ships and four aircraft to the scene. It also diverted three merchant ships to come to the stricken tanker's aid.

Woman Confesses Killing Mate, Blaming 'Intruder'

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (UPI)—A brunette mother of three small children confessed Monday that she shot and killed her husband in his sleep early last Saturday and then blamed the slaying on a fictitious intruder.

Mrs. Ann Luponi, 26, of Lake Hiawatha, N.J., a resort community 30 miles west of New York City, told Morris County authorities that the slaying climaxed several years of domestic strife. She said her husband, Joseph, 39, a supervisor for a New York elevator company was jealous. Ten days ago her husband signed a will making her the sole beneficiary.

She gave a full confession, according to county prosecutor Frank C. Scerbo.

Scerbo described the women as a former mental patient who had once tried suicide.

Luponi, who earned $250 a week and came home only on weekends, was shot to death in his bedroom shortly after midnight, Saturday. At first, Mrs. Luponi insisted that her husband had pushed her off a bed before he was blasted once in the right temple with a .22 caliber revolver by an intruder.

In her original story, Mrs. Luponi said she did not see the intruder in the darkened room, but heard him speed off in a car. Neighbors said they had seen a strange red sports car in the area at the time.

The couple's three children, Jean, 4; Frank, 2; and Susan, 14 months, were asleep in an adjoining room in their pine-paneled cottage.

'Silver Platter' Doctrine Upset By High Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court Monday barred use in federal criminal trials of evidence illegally obtained by state and local police officers.

By a vote of 5-4, the court swept aside the old "silver platter" doctrine. Under it, federal prosecutors could use evidence unlawfully obtained by state and local officers. Under the new rule, state-obtained evidence must meet the test of the Fourth Amendment's guarantee against unreasonable search and seizure.

Speaking for the majority, Justice Potter Stewart summed it up: "Evidence obtained by state police officers during a search which, if conducted by federal officers, would have violated the defendant's immunity from unreasonable searches and seizures, under the fourth amendment is inadmissible over the defendant's timely objection in a federal criminal trial."

In its final session of its 1959-60 term, the court handed down formal opinions in 16 cases and disposed of scores of others in brief orders. The court's 1960-61 term will begin Oct. 3.

Among other major actions the court:

1. Divided 4-4 in upholding a Dayton, Ohio, ordinance requiring householders to admit building inspectors without search warrants. The tie vote resulted from the fact that Justice Stewart, an Ohioan, took no part in the case.

2. Dismissed by a 5-4 vote the appeals of five Negroes convicted of trespassing on a city-owned, privately operated golf course in Greensboro, N.C.

Stewart speaking for the majority said no federal question was involved in the case because of the failure of Negroes to raise such a question in their appeal before the North Carolina Supreme Court.

3. Ruled 6-3 that a husband and wife may be charged with a conspiracy.

Justice Felix Frankfurter rejected the old common-law idea that a husband and wife are one legal person and could not be charged with a conspiracy, since it takes two people to conspire.

4. Refused to review the Boston federal court conviction of Bernard Goldfine, New England textile magnate, for contempt in federal court in Boston. The court refused also to review the similar conviction of Goldfine's secretary, Miss Mildred Paperman.

Typhoon Kills 100 On Luzon

MANILA (AP)—Typhoon Olive hacked across the island of Luzon Monday with 80-mile winds and slashing rain, leaving at least 100 reported dead and hundreds missing. It was the Philippines' second major weather disaster in a month.

Valuable coconut trees, crops, homes and schools were blown down and washed away throughout southern Luzon. Bridges and roads were out. Tens of thousands of persons were homeless. Property damage soared.

The typhoon boiled off across the China Sea.

Manila, a metropolis of two million, was partly paralyzed. Its water supply was cut sharply.

The typhoon slashed within a dozen miles of Manila early Monday, almost exactly a month after flash floods roared through the city last May 28, leaving nearly 200 dead and extensive damage.

Ample warning held the casualty toll down in the Manila area.

The picturesque resort and port city of Legaspi, 150 miles to the southeast, was hit hard.

Tanker Plane Crash In Maine Reported

BETHEL, Maine (UPI)—State police reported Monday night that a KC-97 tanker plane crashed into a mountainside at Newry Corner, near here.

Some parachutes were reported seen in the area.

The four-engine refueling plane crashed in flames. The flash was seen for miles, state police said.

Steelworker Layoffs Bring Call For Action

NEW YORK (AP)—About 25,000 steelworkers have been laid off by a slump in orders in the industry, an Associated Press survey disclosed Monday. Thousands more are reported on short work weeks.

Pay checks of still more workers will be trimmed by extended shutdowns because of the Fourth of July weekend. A further decline in the industry's operating rate is expected to add to the totals.

The situation brought a call for action from David J. McDonald, president of the United Steel Workers.

"Steadily mounting unemployment in the steel industry, together with the creeping paralysis of uncertainty that is spreading into other segments of our economy, emphasize the necessity for swift and positive action to reverse the trend before we slide into a disastrous depression," he said.

The American Iron and Steel Institute, in its regular weekly forecast of industry activity, estimated production this week would amount to 1,560,000 tons, equal to 54.8 per cent of capacity.

This compares with actual output last week of 1,739,000 tons or 61 per cent of capacity and is the lowest since production of 1,291,000 tons in the week of Nov. 9, 1959, when mills were starting up after a long strike.

It is the first time since the recession-riddling summer of 1958 that production in a nonstrike week has fallen below the 60 per cent level.

The Pittsburgh area appeared to be the hardest hit. Although exact figures were not available, best information was that 18,000 of 141,500 workers in the area are idle.

Roughly 3,000 steelworkers have been idled in the Detroit area, due mainly to inventory and rescheduling, the Michigan Employment Security Commission reported.

Texas Flood Waters Recede; Eight Dead

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Flood waters receded Monday along the Texas coast after torrential downpours of more than two feet left eight persons dead and inflicted millions of dollars in property damage.

More than a thousand persons were able to return to their homes.

Port Lavaca, where more than 27 inches of rain fell from late Thursday to Sunday afternoon, was designated a disaster area Monday.

At one time one-fourth of Houston's streets were flooded by the approximately 17 inches of rain dumped by a tropical storm that moved inland from the Gulf of Mexico.

Moscow Takes Disarmament Issue To U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union formally requested the United Nations Monday to place the disarmament question on the agenda of the 1960 General Assembly which opens Sept. 20.

The request was in a letter received by U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld a few hours after the Soviet bloc walked out of the 10-nation disarmament meeting in Geneva.

The disarmament question would have been on the agenda even without a Soviet request, since the 82-nation disarmament commission had been expected to report on the Geneva talks.

Cuba Launches Probe Of Blast Fatal To Two

HAVANA (UPI)—The armed forces ministry Monday investigated causes of the ammunition dump explosion which rocked Havana harbor but said it was too early to place the blame. Unofficial statements called it "American sabotage."

The powerful pro-Castro Central Trade Unions Congress said defiantly that whether or not sabotage was the cause "counter-revolutionaries and their foreign masters will never subdue our people."

Premier Fidel Castro openly accused the United States of responsibility for Sunday's munitions dump explosion in the Cayo Cruz section of Havana, as he did last March when the French munitions ship Le Coure blew up only 250 yards from the site of Sunday's blast.

The ammunition depot, where two persons were killed Sunday night and more than 200 injured, also is used as a garbage dump. It was cordoned off Monday.

Bolikango claims the Bangala have been shabbily treated by not being represented in the new government.

Draft Call For 8,000

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Army issued a call Monday for 8,000 draftees in September.

Misuse Of Sister Kenny Foundation Fund Charged

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Money the foundation's national fund donated for polio victims was misused by improper administration of the Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation, Minnesota's attorney general charged Monday.

He threatened to take the foundation into court to recover the funds unless the board of directors acts on its own. At the same time, four medical staff members of the foundation said they will quit unless there is an overhaul of the board.

Among the figures named in the report are Marvin Kline, 57, executive director of the Minneapolis-based foundation for 14 years, who the attorney general said drew $604,500 in salaries and other benefits in his 14 years in the post; Fred Fadell & Associates, a Minneapolis public relations firm; and a Chicago direct-mail concern.

Congo Leader Faces Threat Of Secession

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (AP)—Joseph Kasavubu was sworn in as first President of the Republic of Congo Monday and was quickly faced with a threat of secession by angrily rallying Bangala tribesmen.

The republic does not actually become independent of Belgian colonial rule until Thursday.

The Bangala, angry because Jean Bolikango of the Puna party was not made president or even a member of the government, held a stormy meeting Monday night on a sandy sidewalk outside party headquarters in a suburb.

About 5,000 Africans crowded about the dilapidated, palm-shaded house and on its roof. They shouted and gesticulated, and some carried rocks and long knives. About 50 police with long bayonets surrounded the meeting.

A banner strung between trees said, "Down with the puppet government of Lumumba." Patrice Lumumba is Premier.

When Bolikango drove up in his car, some of his supporters went wild with excitement and carried him shoulder-high to a table where he made a speech.

With tears rolling down his cheeks, Bolikango said he was so fed up with the way his people had been treated that he proposed setting up an autonomous state in the northwest Congo so that the Bangala could rule themselves without interference from the central government.

The announcement was cheered lustily. The crowd then dispersed without using its rocks and knives.

The scene was near where Bangala tribesmen engaged in skirmishes Saturday when six persons were injured.

There are about 40,000 Bangala in Leopoldville. They have long been known for their services in the Belgian Congo's armed forces and for their cooperation with Belgian authorities.

Bolikango claims the Bangala have been shabbily treated by not being represented in the new government.

Nation Told It Must Call Red 'Bluffs'

Blocking Of Japan Visit 'Outweighed' By Pact's Approval

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Monday night defended his globe-trotting personal diplomacy. He portrayed his trips as so successful "I would not hesitate a second" to venture abroad again in quest of world peace.

In a radio-TV report to the nation, Eisenhower blamed "Communist-inspired riots" for blocking his visit to Japan.

But he said ratification of the new U.S.-Japanese Security Treaty—which the rioters sought to thwart—was "a signal defeat for international communism that far outweighs" the blocking of his visit.

Eisenhower reported he has no plans for further foreign journeys during his remaining months in the White House. But he made plain he would not be dissuaded by any Red-promoted opposition.

The United States must "never be bluffed, cajoled, blinded or frightened" by Red tactics aimed at splitting the free world, he said.

He declared the value of his visit to 27 countries since he took office in 1953 has been proved by what he said was a Communist decision some time ago to oppose his goodwill tours.

U.S. Japanese Ties Strong

The President appealed to Americans not to allow "the unhappy events of the past several weeks in Japan" to impair U.S.-Japanese trade relations, or weaken the friendship "which unites the vast majority of the Japanese and American people."

Eisenhower spoke in a nationwide radio-TV report to the American people a day after returning from a two-week journey to the Philippines, Formosa, South Korea and U.S.-held Okinawa.

His planned visit to Japan was called off after Japanese mobs, opposing a new security treaty with the United States, had created near-chaos there.

The President attacked what he termed Communist-inspired demonstrations against his trip. He also gave a basic defense of his undertakings in personal diplomacy since he came to the White House in 1953.

He noted that now, since he is near the end of his presidential tenure, the prospects are he will not be going abroad as president again.

Demo Criticism Rebuffed
By implication, Eisenhower also rebuffed criticism from some Democrats in the aftermath of the summit conference blowup and the cancellation of his Japanese visit.

"We cannot win out against the Communist purpose to dominate the world by being timid, passive, or apologetic when we are acting in our own and the free world's interests," Eisenhower said. "We must accept the risks of bold action with coolness and courage."

"All the profit gained by past and any possible future trips (by U.S. leaders) will be quickly dissipated should we Americans abandon our present course in foreign relations or slacken our efforts in cooperative programs with our friends."

Then Eisenhower, noting he has been to 27 countries as president, added this "personal word":

"So far as any future visits of my own are involved, I have no

Probe Ordered Before Election

BISMARCK, N.D. (UPI)—A Senate investigation was ordered in advance Monday for a North Dakota special senatorial election Tuesday which could provide the tipoff on how the farm belt will vote in November.

Sen. Theodore Green (D-R.I.), chairman of the Senate subcommittee on elections, ordered two investigators to fly to North Dakota to look into Democratic charges of anonymous pamphlets directed against their candidate, Rep. Quentin Burdick.

Republicans promptly demanded an investigation of their own of reports that COPE, the political action arm of the AFL-CIO, would send in poll watchers from out of state to aid Burdick's campaign against the GOP nominee, two-term Gov. John Davis.

The charges and counter charges broke out as an expected 200,000 of the Flickertail state's 627,000 population prepared to decide an election which has lured practically every major presidential contender into the campaign-

Japan Stands At East-West Crossroads

Editor's Note—In the wake of the Japanese riots The Associated Press asked its correspondents in Tokyo to take a hard look at the underlying situation—to pinpoint the trends likely to affect for years the United States' relations with its outpost ally in the Pacific. This is the first of four articles.

By NATE POLOWETZKY

TOKYO (AP)—Left-wing demonstrations and political turmoil in Japan have raised serious doubts whether this nation can any longer be considered a firm anchor of Western defenses against communism in Asia.

After the devastation of a lost war and subsequent rebirth as a free and prosperous nation, Japan stands today at the crossroads.

Tremendous left-wing and Communist pressure, internally and from outside, are being exerted on Japan to sever ties with the West and throw in its lot with the Communist world.

But powerful forces are pulling Japan to remain with the West. Many sectors of the people want to retain their new democratic way of life. They know that the present unprecedented prosperity depends and will depend on the West, especially the United States. They are determined never again to fall victim to tyranny in any form.

It may take up to 10 years before the final choice is made.

Events in the last several months have focused on left-wing pressures.

Hundreds of thousands of radical students, trade unionists, Socialists, Communists and intellectuals have paraded through Tokyo and other major cities demanding an end of Japan's ties with the United States.

Demonstrators forced the conservative prime minister to cancel the visit here of President Eisenhower and wrested from him a promise to resign.

The street riots sought to halt ratification of the new U.S.-Japan security pact, which grants the United States the right to have bases here in return for a pledge to defend this country.

They failed to achieve this. But left-wing leaders have promised to continue seeking to force withdrawal of all American bases from Japan and neutralize Asia's most industrialized nation.

To the Communists, who played a major role in the campaign, neutralization means tying Japan to Peiping and Moscow.

The demonstrators obviously enjoyed the support of a large segment of the Japanese population, even if the latter did not approve of their methods.

The events occurred in a nation which has consistently returned conservative governments to office pledged to continuing close ties with the United States. Even the most rabid left-winger expects conservative forces to win again in the next elections.

But the demonstrations have raised questions of whether democracy can continue here and whether U.S. bases—and the estimated 40,000 to 60,000 servicemen stationed here—can be maintained.

Out of the agony of war, Japan eagerly accepted the twin ideals held out by the American occupation—neutralism and pacifism. While in power the occupiers gave the country a constitution outlawing war and the possession of war material.

Japanese were confused by America's switch in 1950, at the outbreak of the Korean War. The occupation authorities said Japan needed a military establishment for self defense. Japanese factories began to produce war goods for U.N. forces.

Because Japan truly fears war, the nation was frightened by the Quemoy crisis of 1958 and the more recent U2 incident.

In this atmosphere negotiations on the new security pact began 15 months ago. The Communists and leftwingers, well financed, stirred the brew for their own purposes.

Capital Airline Plans Cutback

WASHINGTON (AP)—Capital Airlines announced Monday plans to withdraw from all markets which primarily involved local service and "which cannot support an economically competitive service pattern."

Capital informed Civil Aeronautics Board Chairman Whitney Gilliland in a letter that it plans to seek permission to drop service to some 20 cities on its route.

Capital's President David H. Baker said the intent is to improve Capital's obsolete service pattern and enable the airline to operate profitably.

Capital is being sued for default of payments to the British manufacturing firm from which it bought 60 Viscount turboprop transports.

Capital said it will seek CAB action on applications now pending to withdraw from service at Wheeling, Morgantown and Clarksburg, W. Va.

Capital said it also will ask the CAB for permission to withdraw from Harrisburg and Williamsport, Pa.

Nation Told

(Continued from Page 1) plans, no other particular trip in mind. Considering the shortness of the time before next January, and the unavoidable preoccupations of the few months remaining, it would be difficult to accept any invitation for me, again, to go abroad.

"But so long as the threat of Communist domination may hang over the free world, I believe that any future president will conclude that reciprocal visits by heads of friendly governments have great value in promoting free world solidarity."

"And this I assure you:

"If any unforeseen situation or circumstances arising in the near future should convince me that another journey of mine would still further strengthen the bonds of friendship between us and others, I would not hesitate a second in deciding to make still an additional effort of this kind."

"No consideration of personal fatigue or inconvenience, no threat or argument would deter me from once again setting out on a course that has meant much for our country, for her friends, and for the cause of freedom and peace with justice in the world."

As for his Far Eastern trip of 23,000 miles, Eisenhower said he concluded that:

1. U.S. relations with the Philippines, Formosa, South Korea and Okinawa have been strengthened.

2. The people of these Far Eastern lands demonstrated anew "their long and ardent friendship with and for the people of America"—demonstrations he called heartwarming to himself and the American people.

3. The ratification of the U.S.-Japanese Security Treaty—which went through despite the left-wing demonstrations—"represents an important victory for the free world—a defeat for international communism."

State Beauty Queen Leaves For Fla. Today

BALTIMORE (AP)—Jerri Fiorilli, Maryland's representative in the Miss U.S.A. contest starting Saturday in Miami Beach, had some frantic last-minute packing to do Monday.

"I've finished runner-up in so many beauty contests, I really didn't feel confident in the state finals last week," the curvy, freckle-faced model said.

"When I was named Miss Maryland last Friday night, I suddenly realized I wasn't prepared for the trip. I've been rushing around getting my wardrobe ready and attending to lots of details. I've hardly had time to breathe."

Tuesday she will join a group of Miss Universe contestants in Annapolis for a bus trip to Florida.

The 21-year-old brunette interrupted her packing long enough Monday to make a television appearance and accept a gift from Baltimore Mayor J. Harold Grady which she will present to the mayor of Miami.

She also stopped off at a modeling school, which sponsored the contest in Maryland, for final instructions.

In the Miss U.S.A. contest, which precedes the Miss Universe pageant, Miss Fiorilli will wear a yachting outfit to depict the abundant water activities available in the Chesapeake Bay area.

The outfit also will show Miss Maryland's 36-24-36 measurements to best advantage.

Jerri lists swimming, boating, bowling and dancing as her hobbies.

She has been studying voice for the past four years and singing professionally with a dance band on weekends. Since last December she has performed with U.S.O. units in Greenland, Iceland, Newfoundland, Labrador and the Caribbean area.

House Passes Excise, Corporation Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A compromise bill keeping in force four billion dollars in corporation income tax rates and excise levies cleared the House Monday. But the Senate wanted to talk about it, and a final vote was postponed until Tuesday.

There was virtually no doubt the measure would be sent to the White House ahead of a Thursday midnight deadline, when the taxes would drop back automatically to pre-Korean War rates or expire without the extension action.

Woman Fails To Get Her Man Via 'Home Delivery'

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Theodora Eagleden, 31, believes in the direct approach—so she had herself delivered in a basket to the home of the man she loves.

It didn't work.

"I would cook for him," Theodora told reporters. "I would buy presents for him. Why won't he just let me love him?"

She referred to Gerry Burrow, 37, who took a dim, dim view.

More than two years ago, Miss Eagleden went to work at Burrow's office. She said that for the first five months she didn't even notice him.

"Then I looked deeply into his soul," she said. "Into his deep eyes. That was how my love was born."

Her love was not returned.

After other methods failed, Theodora got the idea of having herself delivered to his front door.

"I had to pay 10 pounds—$28—for the hamper from the Royal Institute for the Blind," she said. The basket proved big enough to hold her fairly comfortably.

"I hired a van for 5 pounds," she said, "and a man drove me to Gerry's flat and left me inside the hamper outside his door."

When Gerry found out what happened, he wasn't amused.

"That woman has really made me ill," he told newsmen. "She's pursued me all over the country. I just want to forget that she ever existed."

Theodora said he made her promise would be sent for six months.

"When those six months are up," she said, "I intend to get my man."

Japan Stands At East-West Crossroads

Editor's Note—In the wake of the Japanese riots The Associated Press asked its correspondents in Tokyo to take a hard look at the underlying situation—to pinpoint the trends likely to affect for years the United States' relations with its outmost ally in the Pacific. This is the first of four articles.

By NATE POLOWETZKY

TOKYO (AP)—Left-wing demonstrations and political turmoil in Japan have raised serious doubts whether this nation can any longer be considered a firm anchor of Western defenses against communism in Asia.

After the devastation of a lost war and subsequent rebirth as a free and prosperous nation, Japan stands today at the crossroads.

Tremendous left-wing and Communist pressure, internally and from outside, are being exerted on Japan to sever ties with the West and throw in its lot with the Communist world.

But powerful forces are pulling Japan to remain with the West. Many sectors of the people want to retain their new democratic way of life. They know that the present unprecedented prosperity depends and will depend on the West, especially the United States. They are determined never again to fall victim to tyranny in any form.

It may take up to 10 years before the final choice is made.

Events in the last several months have focused on left-wing pressures.

Hundreds of thousands of radical students, trade unionists, Socialists, Communists and intellectuals have paraded through Tokyo and other major cities demanding an end of Japan's ties with the United States.

Demonstrators forced the conservative prime minister to cancel the visit here of President Eisenhower and wrested from him a promise to resign.

The street riots sought to halt ratification of the new U.S.-Japan security pact, which grants the United States the right to have bases here in return for a pledge to defend this country.

They failed to achieve this. But left-wing leaders have promised to continue seeking to force withdrawal of all American bases from Japan and neutralize Asia's most industrialized nation.

To the Communists, who played a major role in the campaign, neutralization means tying Japan to Peiping and Moscow.

The demonstrators obviously enjoyed the support of a large segment of the Japanese population, even if the latter did not approve of their methods.

The events occurred in a nation which has consistently returned conservative governments to office pledged to continuing close ties with the United States. Even the most rabid left-winger expects conservative forces to win again in the next elections.

But the demonstrations have raised questions of whether democracy can continue here and whether U.S. bases—and the estimated 40,000 to 60,000 servicemen stationed here—can be maintained.

Out of the agony of war, Japan eagerly accepted the twin ideals held out by the American occupation — neutralism and pacifism. While in power the occupiers gave the country a constitution outlawing war and the possession of war materiel.

Japanese were confused by America's switch in 1950, at the outbreak of the Korean War. The occupation authorities said Japan needed a military establishment for self defense. Japanese factories began to produce war goods for U.N. forces.

Because Japan truly fears war, the nation was frightened by the Quemoy crisis of 1958 and the more recent U2 incident.

In this atmosphere negotiations on the new security pact began 15 months ago. The Communists and leftwingers, well financed, stirred the brew for their own purposes.

Capital Airline Plans Cutback

WASHINGTON (AP)—Capital Airlines announced Monday plans to withdraw from all markets which primarily involved local service and "which cannot support an economically competitive service pattern."

Capital informed Civil Aeronautics Board Chairman Whitney Gilliland in a letter that it plans to seek permission to drop service to some 20 cities on its route.

Capital's President David H. Baker said the intent is to improve Capital's obsolete service pattern and enable the airline to operate profitably.

Capital is being sued for default of payments to the British manufacturing firm from which it bought 60 Viscount turboprop transports.

Capital said it will seek CAB action on applications now pending to withdraw from service at Wheeling, Morgantown and Clarksburg, W. Va.

Capital said it also will ask the CAB for permission to withdraw from Harrisburg and Williamsport, Pa.

Nation Told

(Continued from Page 1) plans, no other particular trip in mind. Considering the shortness of the time before next January, and the unavoidable preoccupations of the few months remaining, it would be difficult to accept any invitation for me, again, to go abroad.

"But so long as the threat of Communist domination may hang over the free world, I believe that any future president will conclude that reciprocal visits by heads of friendly governments have great value in promoting free world solidarity.

"And this I assure you:

"If any unforeseen situation or circumstances arising in the near future should convince me that another journey of mine would still further strengthen the bonds of friendship between us and others, I would not hesitate a second in deciding to make still an additional effort of this kind.

"No consideration of personal fatigue or inconvenience, no threat or argument would deter me from once again setting out on a course that has meant much for our country, for her friends, and for the cause of freedom—and peace with justice in the world."

As for his Far Eastern trip of 23,000 miles, Eisenhower said he concluded that:

1. U.S. relations with the Philippines, Formosa, South Korea and Okinawa have been strengthened.

2. The people of these Far Eastern lands demonstrated anew "their long and ardent friendship with and for the people of America" — demonstrations he called heartwarming to himself and the American people.

3. The ratification of the U.S.-Japanese Security Treaty—which went through despite the left-wing demonstrations — "represents an important victory for the free world — a defeat for international communism."

State Beauty Queen Leaves For Fla. Today

BALTIMORE (AP)—Jerri Fiorilli, Maryland's representative in the Miss U.S.A. contest starting Saturday in Miami Beach, had some frantic last-minute packing to do Monday.

"I've finished runner-up in so many beauty contests, I really didn't feel confident in the state finals last week," the curvy, freckle-faced model said.

"When I was named Miss Maryland last Friday night, I suddenly realized I wasn't prepared for the trip. I've been rushing around getting my wardrobe ready and attending to lots of details. I've hardly had time to breathe."

Tuesday she will join a group of Miss Universe contestants in Annapolis for a bus trip to Florida.

The 21-year-old brunette interrupted her packing long enough Monday to make a television appearance and accept a gift from Baltimore Mayor J. Harold Grady which she will present to the mayor of Miami.

She also stopped off at a modeling school, which sponsored the contest in Maryland, for final instructions.

In the Miss U.S.A. contest, which precedes the Miss Universe pageant, Miss Fiorilli will wear a yachting outfit to depict the abundant water activities available in the Chesapeake Bay area.

The outfit also will show Miss Maryland's 36-24-36 measurements to best advantage.

Jerri lists swimming, boating, bowling and dancing as her hobbies.

She has been studying voice for the past four years and singing professionally with a dance band on weekends. Since last December she has performed with U.S.O. units in Greenland, Iceland, Newfoundland, Labrador and the Caribbean area.

House Passes Excise, Corporation Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A compromise bill keeping in force four billion dollars in corporation income tax rates and excise levies cleared the House Monday. But the Senate wanted to talk about it, and a final vote was postponed until Tuesday.

There was virtually no doubt the measure would be sent to the White House ahead of a Thursday midnight deadline, when the taxes would drop back automatically to pre-Korean War rates or expire without the extension action.

Bus Kills Man, Boy

Woman Fails To Get Her Man Via 'Home Delivery'

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Theodora Eagleden, 31, believes in the direct approach—so she had herself delivered in a basket to the home of the man she loves.

It didn't work.

"I would cook for him," Theodora told reporters. "I would buy presents for him. Why won't he just let me love him?"

She referred to Gerry Burrow, 37, who took a dim, dim view.

More than two years ago, Miss Eagleden went to work at Burrow's office. She said that for the first five months she didn't even notice him.

"Then I looked deeply into his soul," she said. "Into his deep eyes. That was how my love was born."

Her love was not returned. After other methods failed, Theodora got the idea of having herself delivered to his front door.

"I had to pay 10 pounds—$28—for the hamper from the Royal Institute for the Blind," she said. The basket proved big enough to hold her fairly comfortably.

"I hired a van for 5 pounds," she said, "and a man drove me to Gerry's flat and left me inside the hamper outside his door."

When Gerry found out what happened, he wasn't amused.

"That woman has really made me ill," he told newsmen. "She's pursued me all over the country. I just want to forget that she ever existed."

Theodora said he made her promise not to bother him for six months.

"When those six months are up," she said, "I intend to get my man."

Indictment Of Rees To Be Asked Today

BALTIMORE (AP)—A federal grand jury will be asked Tuesday to indict Rees, 36-year-old civilian clerk at Ft. Meade, Md. She was shot to death June 26, 1957, while sitting cased of wiping out the four-member Carroll Jackson family of Virginia in a kidnap-murder spree and of another slaying in Maryland.

U.S. Atty. Leon H.A. Pierson said he will ask the jury to indict Rees, a lanky 31-year-old musician, for the kidnaping of two of the Jacksons and failure to release them unharmed.

The victims, 28-year-old Mrs. Carroll V. Jackson, Jr., of Apple Grove, Va., and her five-year-old daughter, Susan Ann, were found dead near Gambrills, Md., in March, 1959. The FBI obtained a federal warrant naming Rees last Saturday.

Virginia authorities charged Rees the same day with also murdering Mrs. Jackson's husband and 18-month-old daughter, Janet. Their bodies were discovered near Fredericksburg, Va., 17 days before the mother and older daughter were found. The family had been missing for two months.

Rees was arrested Friday in West Memphis, Ark., on a warrant charging him with unlawful flight to avoid persecution in the slaying of Mrs. Margaret V. Har-

While Rees remained silent and his petite, blonde wife accused the FBI of persecuting him, investigators said they also planned to question him about two unsolved double murders in the Maryland suburbs of Washington.

All the victims in these cases, dating back to 1955, were teenage girls. Two of them were nude when found dead in the Potomac River.

The FBI has refused to discuss a possible motive in any of the killings.

Federal agents also were tight-lipped about clues which led to Rees' arrest. Virginia investigators said the musician came under suspicion because of a letter written to Gov. J. Lindsay Almond.

Glenn L. Moser, 30-year-old salesman, told newsmen he wrote a letter to authorities and personally told FBI agents he believed Rees, his former roommate in Norfolk, was the slayer.

Moser said he and Rees grew up together in Hyattsville, Md., and the musician was "my best friend, my only real good friend."

The 6-foot-3, 170-pound Rees moved to West Memphis in January after living most of his life, except for a 1946-53 stretch in the armed forces, in the Washington area.

He is being held in $50,000 bail on each of the two FBI warrants obtained last week and is scheduled for a July 6 hearing. The purpose of the indictment being sought Tuesday, the FBI explained, is to obtain Rees' removal to Maryland without presenting detailed testimony.

State Tax Take $6 Million More Than Expected

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Maryland will take in nearly six million dollars more in taxes this fiscal year than it was estimated, State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein discloses in a statement.

Goldstein said that the statement was "tentative in nature and subject to fluctuations." The fiscal year ends on June 30th.

He pointed out, however, that not all of the increase was general fund revenue and a part of it would go to subdivisions of the state and the Maryland Port Authority.

The retail sales and use tax was expected to exceed estimates by around $800,000, Goldstein stated. The estimate for the year was $73,337,000.

Also expected to exceed estimates were: The alcoholic beverages excises, by nearly $200,000; franchise taxes, by $200,000; the tax on insurance companies, by $75,000; death taxes by $100,000 and the motor vehicle titling tax, by approximately $700,000.

Tax sources expected to closely parallel estimates include: The tax on horse racing, the motor vehicle fuel tax and motor vehicle registration and fines.

Receipts from the state tobacco tax were expected to be approximately $200,000 below estimates.

Goldstein said that the motor vehicle fuel taxes, registration fees and fines, as well as the titling tax, were special funds for highway use and increases in these funds would not affect the general funds of the state.

The comptroller said that a full and complete financial statement is expected to be ready by August 1.

The process used in dry cleaning was first used in France about the middle of the 18th century.

Mrs. Alberta Lindner conducted the meeting, which was preceded by a buffet dinner in the garden. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Margaret Barnes.

It was voted that the next two meetings be held on the third Wednesday of the month. Mrs. Edna German, B. Street, LaVale, will be hostess at 6:30, July 20 for a cookout. The August 17 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Violet Gibson, 346 Reservoir Avenue, beginning with a picnic dinner at 6:30. Beginning September 16th, the meetings will be held at the Woodmen's home. Materials pledged for the old home at Sherman, Texas, are to be brought and packed at the July meeting.

Mrs. Arlene Frantz was named chairman, with Mrs. Gibson, co-chairman for the district convention, which will be held in Cumberland in September. Mrs. Fay K. Littman, state manager and director and the new state president, Hagerstown, will be special guests. Hagerstown, Oakland, Deer Park, Swanton, Mt. Lake, Keyser, Friendsville and Grantsville groves have been invited.

Seven members and three guests attended.

The Animal Welfare Society will meet at 7:30 tonight at the Cumberland Free Public Library.

The monthly card party for the benefit of St. Anthony's Church, Ridgeley, will be held tonight in the church basement. Setback and 500 will be played and refreshments will be served.

School Board Seeks To Sell Property

Part of the Oster property in Flintstone, adjacent to the Flintstone School tract, is not needed by the Allegany County Board of Education and probably will be sold.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster met with the Board of County Commissioners last Friday to discuss the situation. The Oster property was needed for the expansion of the school athletic field. However, to get the needed land, school officials found it necessary to purchase the house as well.

Now, school officials seek to sell the house. At last Friday's meeting, Mr. Webster was instructed to have the Lord's attorney, Robert MacDonald Bruce, confer with County Commissioner John T. Mason, who is the specialist on financial matters.

Council Adopts Classification Plan Changes

The Mayor and Council yesterday adopted seven changes in the city's Job Classification and Pay Plan ordinance upon the recommendation of the Civil Service Commission.

The changes were urged by the commission following a review of the ordinance which will become effective July 1. The commission recommended that:

The position of Labor Foreman, Class 9, be changed to omit the word "Labor" and to read "Foreman" only.

The position of General Foreman, Class 7, be changed to omit the word "General" and placed in Class 9.

The position of Clerk-Typist, Class 3, be abolished and that the incumbent be designated as Clerk in Class 4.

The position of Watchman-Inspector be established in Class 5 and the incumbent assigned to the position.

The position of Stenographer Class 4 in the City Clerk's office be changed to Stenographer Class 6 and the incumbent assigned to the position.

The position of Stenographer Class 6 in the offices of the City Solicitor and City Engineer be changed to Secretary Class 8 and the incumbent assigned to the position.

That a half-class between Classes 8 and 9 in the Job Classification and Salary Pay Plan, to be known as Class 8½, be established and that the positions of Driver and Tillerman in the Fire Department be assigned to the new class. Rates will range from $3,800 to $4,520.

Francis A. Kenney, chairman of the commission, had urged that the adjustments be made before the plan goes into effect July 1.

Romney Woman Assured Seat

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UPI) — Mrs. Virginia Williams of Romney was apparently assured Monday of the last questionable seat among West Virginia's delegation at the Democratic National Convention.

The State Supreme Court denied a request by Minter L. Wilson of Morgantown that all votes cast in Congressional District be thrown out. The reason was that, through a printing error, his name was omitted.

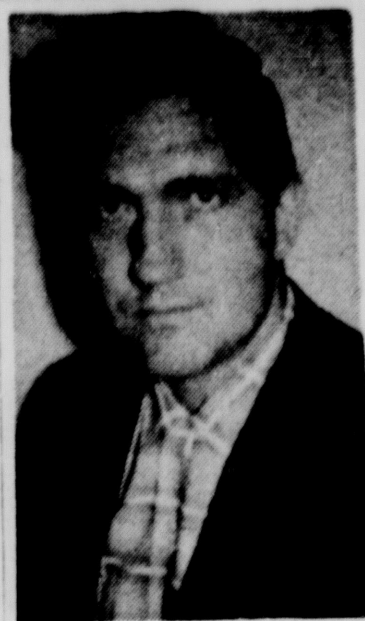

As a result, Mrs. Williams' vote in Barbour gave her second place in the voting, ahead of Wilson. The Barbour canvassing board maintained during earlier arguments before the high court that Wilson failed to make proper request for review of the votes before they were certified to the secretary of state's office.

FOR SALE BY THE STATE ROADS COMMISSION
Sealed bids will be received until Noon, Tuesday, July 5, 1960, at the office of the State Roads Commission, Baltimore, Maryland, offering to purchase and remove the following improvements:

No. 1 — The improvements on the former Wilson E. Keller, Item #4839, property consisting of a two story frame dwelling. This property is located on the east side of Elene Street, Westernport, Maryland. (Brophytown)

No. 2 — The improvements on the former Charles H. Winkler, Item #4630, property consisting of a two story frame dwelling and other smaller frame improvements. This property is located on the east side of Elene Street, Westernport, Maryland. (Brophytown)

All of these improvements must be removed down to the ground line within 30 calendar days following notification to proceed. Details, Bidding Forms and Special Bidding Envelopes for these improvements may be obtained at the State Roads Commission's office, Braddock Road, Cumberland, Maryland. Inspection Monday through Friday by appointment by contacting same office. Phone PA 4-3670.

City Makes Changes In Police Force

Several major changes were approved in the Police Department yesterday by the Mayor and Council.

The changes, which include a promotion of a patrolman to lieutenant, were proposed by Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming.

Patrolman Wilber E. Shank, a seven-year veteran of the force, was appointed lieutenant after being certified by the Civil Service Commission.

Lt. Det. James E. Van was appointed acting captain and will be in charge of the department's Detective Bureau. He has been on the force since November 30, 1958.

Commissioner Fleming said Van's appointment will be made permanent as soon as the Civil Service Commission compiles an eligible list. The rating will carry a Class 2 rating.

The changes also involve Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney, Assistant Chief John Sherry and Lt. Donald Smith.

In the future Chief Gaffney will have charge of the entire force, instead of handling the daylight shift and the overall duties as in the past.

Assistant Chief Sherry will move from the 5 p. m. to 1 a. m. shift to daylight where he will have charge of the shift. Lt. Smith, who has been working the 1 a. m. to 9 a. m. shift will replace Sherry on the middle shift.

Lt. Shank has been placed in charge of the 1 a. m. to 9 a. m. shift. Lt. Shank has worked the middle shift since joining the department on June 22, 1953.

Commissioner Fleming stated yesterday that the changes will result in more efficient operation of his department. The commissioner noted that the duties of the chief have been conflicting with shift operations, and under the new setup, Assistant Chief Sherry will handle the shift obligations, while Gaffney will run the regular chief duties.

Commissioner Fleming also observed that the new setup will assure full resources of the department in emergencies, as well as offer training and experience for the men advanced.

Lt. Shank is a veteran of the Army during World War II and served in the Navy during the Korean War. He was graduated from Allegany High School in 1944.

Lt. Shank has finished first on all the promotional tests he has taken since being with the department. This past September he scored a 93.2 during a course conducted by the Maryland State Police at Pikesville for all law enforcement officers of the state. It was the highest grade recorded during the course.

He is married to the former Rosalee Shirley and they have one daughter, Judith Ann Shank, a freshman at Fort Hill High School. They reside at 515 Eastern Avenue.

City Council Approves $1,500 Budget For Library System

Street Commissioner John J. Long yesterday questioned the advisability of City Council action in granting the Cumberland Free Public Library $1,500 more than was voted at last year's budget session.

Pointing out that he favored payment of the money, Commissioner Long said he felt it "left the door open" for other units to request additional financial assistance.

Officers of the library had requested the amount, pointing out that its books must be balanced before its operation is changed over to the county system recently approved.

Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder said she felt the city was obligated to meet the request, pointing out that during budget discussions the city had indicated it would make up any deficit that would develop from the reduced amount approved for operation of the library.

The transaction was then unanimously passed.

The transfer of $1,500 to the Police Department likewise was approved by council after Police Commissioner Philmore R. Fleming explained that the money was required in connection with the work that had been done on the Baltimore Street traffic lights. Money for the project was not included in the 1959-60 budget, the commissioner stated.

Council authorized Commissioner John J. Long to advertise for bids for road oil, and also to advertise for bids for the installation of a storm sewer on Blackiston Ave. between Second Street and the Industrial Blvd. to be flooded following a down-pour, the letters noted.

Two residents of Blackiston Avenue submitted letters of protest on the condition of the street after heavy rains. It was not unusual for the cellars of homes in the city's action in the matter.

Vehicles Burn On Turnpike

Pennsylvania Turnpike Police at Everett investigated two fires on the superhighway Sunday with approximately $7,640 worth of damage caused.

The first blaze broke out at noon in a tractor-trailer being operated westbound in Bedford County by James E. Watson, of RD 2, New Hope, Pa. Police said the rig was hauling a load of eggs, and all were "well fried" by the time the blaze was extinguished by members of the Schellsburg Volunteer Fire Company.

Police estimated $6,640 damage to the rig and the cargo. No injuries were reported.

The second fire occurred at 3 p. m. and also happened in Bedford County.

Police said the fire broke out in a late model sedan being operated by Chisholm Garland of Pittsburgh. The fire was started from a cigarette in the rear seat of the car. Police estimated $1,000 damage.

The driver sustained a burn of his right index finger, and was given first aid at the scene by police. Members of the Breeze-wood Volunteer Fire Company extinguished the blaze.

Meter Receipts Down

Receipts from the city's parking meters for the week ending June 19 totaled $830.80, and for the previous week amounted to $860.55, according to Harry M. Whisner, meter inspector. The total for each week represented a drop from the previous period.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster met with the Board of County Commissioners last Friday to discuss the situation. The position of Stenographer Class 6 in the offices of the City Solicitor and City Engineer be changed to Secretary Class 8 and the incumbent assigned to the position.

That a half-class between Classes 8 and 9 in the Job Classification and Salary Plan, to be known as Class 8½, be established and that the positions of Driver and Tillerman in the Fire Department be assigned to the new class. Rates will range from $3,900 to $4,520.

Maintaining The 'Maginot Line'

It has been evident from the start that Khrushchev's exploitation of the U-2 incident has been an attack on American bases. He says those bases are aggressive. This is a reiteration of the Communist line which has been charging for 15 years that American warmongers were about to launch a war against Russia.

It is Russia's intentions that are aggressive even when the Kremlin warlords talk peace. Russia aims to create an all-Communist world, if possible without international war but by employing economic pressure, conspiracy, the world's largest and most slanderous propaganda network, the world's largest spy network, public disorder, and even international conferences.

The use of total military force is not ruled out. It will become a near certainty if the world balance of power is seriously altered.

Soviet and Chinese attacks on the American system of bases are a calculated attempt to alter that world balance of power in Russia's favor. Russia's efforts to alter the world balance of power make Japan a major target, and Germany another. The Middle East, where Turkey sits across the path of conquest is a third.

But America's line of bases — America's Maginot Line, to use a not wholly accurate analogy—cannot be maintained indefinitely. The independence of Morocco has already forced abandonment of some bases there, and others are to be abandoned in a few years.

The collapse of the Baghdad Pact, Britain's abandonment of Suez, and Soviet machinations in the Middle East have all affected the balance of power. If a hot nuclear war is avoided, America faces the task of trying to maintain a deterrent power balance with fewer bases.

These Days

Japan

Prior to 1853, for three centuries, Japan was completely isolated from the rest of the world, except for an annual trading visit of a Dutch ship. In 1853, Commodore Matthew C. Perry of the United States Navy sailed into Yedo Bay and opened Japan to international trade and commerce. Japan was governed by a Shogun (a mayor of the palace), the Emperor being a deified nonentity. The United States supported the Emperor against the Shogun. In 1868, a revolution in Japanese government occurred. The Shogunate was abolished; a Parliament (the Diet) was established and a Cabinet responsible to the Diet came into existence. Commissions were sent to every part of the world to study how other nations conducted themselves and many of the methods employed in other countries. It is interesting to read a statement of Japan's development by Prince Ito who was the architect of the new Japan. He begins:

"I have always been very much in favour of the adoption of the principles of Western civilization by Japan, and I have been enabled to use my services in the direction of assisting the present progress and transformation in Japan's estate. In the thirty-four years during which I have held office I have always tried to help, and sometimes even to force on to the antagonistic spirits, measures necessary for the growth of modern Japan. From the beginning we realized fully how necessary it was that the Japanese people should not only adopt Western methods, but should also speedily become competent to do without the aid of foreign instruction and supervision . . ."

What Prince Ito accomplished after 1868 was that Japan became the first Great Power in modern Asia. In 1894-5, Japan challenged the authority of China, fought a war, took Formosa, became suzerain of Korea. In 1904-5, Japan challenged Russia's development in Manchuria, fought a war with Russia, defeated Russia and by the Treaty of Portsmouth gained half of Manchuria, control of the southern end of the Manchurian railroad, gained a foothold in Inner Mongolia. In 1914, Japan became an ally of the anti-German nations, took from Germany her possessions in Shantung Province, and by a series of political actions, partly by subverting the Anfu Club, the political power in Peking, attempted to set up a suzerainty over China.

Although the United States condoned all of Japan's actions in China, there was nevertheless deep concern in this country because of them. American missionaries and businessmen, resident in China, encouraged Chinese students in the great Students Strike of 1919 which closed down China tight, not a wheel moving or a shop selling any goods. The strike was to prevent the Chinese government from signing the Paris Treaty. China did not sign.

Anti-Japanese boycotts were recurrent in China and these created antagonism against the United States in Japan because it was generally assumed that the anti-Japanese and Americans in China instigated these anti-Japanese actions in China. By 1921, this situation had become so ugly that Americans who lived in the Far East expected war any day. In 1922, the Washington Conference was held at which many of the outstanding issues between the United States and Japan were believed to have been settled.

Japan, however, faced a very difficult situation, not unlike the present one. Japan is only 20 per cent arable. Its food supply is inadequate for so large a population (currently about 90,000,000). It is very poor in minerals. It is a land of unbelievable beauty but its people have to work hard to eke out a living. If Japan possessed Manchuria, it would be sufficiently supplied with food, coal and iron to provide for its needs. Therefore, Japan's policy always had it as a goal to own Manchuria.

Japan's best market is the United States but that is an illogical market now. In a former period, Japan sold its silk crop to the United States and purchased its cotton necessities here. However, silk has become a secondary crop, rayon, nylon, and other synthetic products having taken its place. From an economic standpoint, the sound market for Japan is China, but Japan's trade with Red China is limited. This is particularly important to the Japanese as they realize that the trend of European economic activities will be against them. This is the first time in Japanese history that there has been fear of China, but it is there now.

Siamese Twins By Lock And Key

Real U-2 Story Removes False Deductions

WASHINGTON

On the eve of the political conventions, and many weeks after the U-2 fell near Sverdlovsk, it may seem untimely to try to tell the real U-2 story. Yet it is still worth doing, if only because so many false deductions have been made from this single event.

What happened, then, in the upper air, when Lt. Francis Powers' frail, glider-like reconnaissance plane met its celebrated fate?

As to the first part of the answer, there is general agreement. The U-2 was designed with remarkable narrow margins of tolerance. Flown a little too fast or a little too slow, it would spin or flutter. Its fuel also had special volatility characteristics, to permit operation at very high altitudes; and the nature of the fuel gave the engine a strong tendency to "flame out."

A flame-out in a jet engine is roughly like a blow-out in a gas stove. The pilot light goes on burning (being electrical in the jet), while the main flame is extinguished. But at 70,000 to 80,000 feet, it is impossible to relight the stove, so to say, because the air is too thin. A pilot whose jet engine has flamed out at such an altitude must go down into air richer in oxygen, before he can hope to bring his engine to life again.

There is hardly any doubt that this was what happened to Lt. Powers. The flame-out of his engine is so generally blamed, because it is known with certainty that Powers had begun to descend from his operating altitude some time before he was shot down. This is known, in turn, for a simple reason already published by the American government in another connection.

Those with good memories will recall the intercepted conversations of Russian pilots to other air defense personnel, which the State Dept. published long ago. The intercepts were used to prove that the Soviets had willfully shot down an American transport that had strayed across the Russian border. The publication of the intercepts also proved what had long been known unofficially, that radio traffic inside Russia is continually monitored.

Like other such systems, the Soviet air defense system communicates by ground-to-air radio and vice-versa. Thus the appearance of the U-2 in the upper air, reported to the ground by the radars, was recorded in monitored conversations of the Soviet air defense personnel.

Also quite clearly recorded in these conversations was the key fact, which was once again reported by the Soviet radars. This was the fact that the U-2 had begun to descend from its normal operating altitude about an hour before the moment before it is presumed to have been actually hit.

MINIMUM WAGE — With all the "issues" before Congress this election year, the fight over raising the minimum wage beyond its present dollar-an-hour level has all but been obscured. However, powerful forces are lining up on both sides and fireworks are in the offing.

Democrats are pressing strongly for a $1.25 floor, but the administration, with backing from some southern Democrats, is fighting to hold it to $1.15. Now, some important segments of organized farmers have entered the fray, and to confuse matters still further they've lined up on both sides of the issue.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson opposes any raise at all, contending it would add $650 million a year to farm production costs. The American Farm Bureau federation sides with him.

By Joseph Alsop

This, really, is just about all the airborne evidence with important bearing on the fate of the U-2. It makes nonsense of the Soviet claim that the U-2 was shot down by a rocket at its operating altitude. It also makes nonsense, incidentally, of some public explanations of the way the U-2 problem was subsequently handled by the U. S. government.

The plane was brought down on May 1. The reports of the radio monitors were in Washington by May 2. By that date, in fact, it was already known here that the U-2 had come down far in the interior of Russia. But at the high-level conferences which were then held in Washington, it was decided that the Kremlin would never risk the loss of face involved in a public admission of the extent of the U-2's penetration.

Thus no new instructions were given the National Space Agency, about the right comment to make on any Russian announcement of the fall of the U-2. Khrushchev's first announcement appeared to bear out the judgment of the conferees here. The Space Agency duly offered its famous comment, concerning a weather reconnaissance plane which had gone off course.

This comment was in fact a conscious gamble, and by no means a silly gamble. But it was a gamble alas, that went very wrong when the Kremlin thereupon trumpeted the damaging fact, which the Kremlin had not been expected to admit, that the U-2 had really fallen near Sverdlovsk.

As to the remaining evidence on the fate of the U-2, it comes in the main from the debris of the plane displayed by the Soviets in Moscow. The completeness of the debris makes it quite certain that the U-2 was not brought down by direct hit from a rocket. If the end had come in this way the fragments left to tell the story would have been very much more fragmentary. And Lt. Powers would almost certainly not have survived.

But the character of the U-2 debris does not rule the possibility that the plane was not put out of action by a rocket exploded by a proximity fuse. It does not rule out, either, the possibility of a hit by a Soviet fighter. And above all, neither the debris nor the intercept say exactly what altitude the U-2 had reached when it was finally hit. It was not hit at its normal operating altitude; but it could have been hit at any altitude from 60,000 feet on up.

This final fact unhappily belies optimistic interpretations of the U-2 episode, by this reporter among others, which have now been given semi-official currency. A second report is needed to cover this crucial point.

Tax Loophole On Yachts, Business Entertainment Unplugged By Byrd

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Here is the type of yachting-private airplane tax loophole—a majority of the Senate wants to plug—despite the opposition of Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia and of the Treasury itself.

Last February, Chairman John Doerfer of the Federal Communications Commission flew to Miami in the private airplane of the Storer Broadcasting Co., then spent six days fishing on the Storer yacht, "Lazy Girl." The yacht and airplane are charged off as a business expense.

Storer owns 12 radio-TV stations which come under FCC regulation. Thus he was able to win the favor of the FCC chairman and at the same time charge off against his taxes the yachting and travel expense of winning that favor.

Earlier, the Storer airplane was used by Republican Truth Teams in the 1952 and 1956 presidential campaigns to try to make liars out of the Democrats. Here again, Uncle Sam helped to pay, through tax deductions, the cost of generous private airplane travel contributed to the Republican party.

However, when Sen. Joe Clark of Pennsylvania introduced an amendment to the tax bill plugging this loophole, the lobbyist for the Treasury Department, Jay W. Glasmann, actually was on the Senate floor lobbying against the bill. Apparently his chief in the Treasury, usually public-minded Bob Anderson didn't want to plug these yachting-airplane loopholes which had benefited the GOP in the past. Last year at exactly this time, a majority of the Senate passed similar legislation plugging the same tax loopholes, following which the will of the majority was overruled by the Byrd big business clique, operating through the secrecy of the House-Senate Conference Committee.

Last year the tax-plugging Senators could have held up the tax bill until after the end of the fiscal year June 30 in order to upset the Byrd clique. But in the end they chickened out.

This week the same thing is happening all over again. A majority of the Senate has voted to plug the loopholes. A small group of conservative tax conferees voted privately to override the majority. Forty-eight hours from now the fiscal year ends.

A brief filibuster could continue the tax bill until after the end of the fiscal year, thus force the hand of the Byrd forces. All a small group of Senators need do is keep talking until the end of the fiscal year—unless the Byrd committee bows to the will of the majority.

Senator Byrd was among those who voted to continue the right to filibuster. Now it will be interesting to see if the Senate liberals have enough spunk to use his own weapon against him.

Note—What the Byrd forces claim is that the loophole-plugging Senators risk breaking down the fiscal machinery of government by holding up the tax bill. It so happens, however, the majority of the Senate voted officially on the other side.

No Cadillac For King

Like house guests who arrive just before payday, Thailand's King Phumiphon and Queen Sirikit showed up for an official visit in California a few days before the fiscal year runs out on June 30. Result: the State Department found the entertainment cupboard almost bare and it cannot legally be restocked until July 1.

Based on any other than Asian standards, Japan is a small economy. National product is about $32 billion against more than $500 billion — a half trillion — for the U. S. Her 93 million people have a long way to go before matching the living standards of America's 180 million.

Yet, as a competitive ally, Japan is giving American manufacturers a hard run for their money, not only in the domestic American market but around the world.

Japanese manufacturers also are giving tough competition to another former U. S. enemy, now a competitive ally — West Germany. Japanese cameras, optical goods and machinery compete in the world markets with West Germany on an equal footing — fields where the Germans once had an apparent monopoly.

Japan in its phenomenal recovery as an industrial nation has become a quality producer. Pre-war Japan — then a $5 billion economy — was chiefly known as a producer of cheap goods — poor imitations of the products and goods of other nations. This is no longer the case. Japanese goods match the quality of those of its competitors.

The government has played the key role in this. Rigid quality standards are set for exports. Unless they are first quality the government will refuse export licenses.

Japan's biggest customer is the U. S., and Japan's businessmen realistically know that America is the only country that can consume their products. This is why they are so sensitive to American moves to restrict imports from cheaper labor countries. The U. S. is the quality market. Asia, or Southeast Asia, or Africa, never will be — certainly not in this generation.

Imports from Japan are restricted by Britain, Germany, France and Italy. The British are also protesting Japanese sewing machines are coming into the country from Spain and Ireland. Also, transistor radios.

Strongest pressure in the U. S. against Japanese goods is from the textile industry, particularly on cotton goods. The Japanese advantage there is more the fault of the U. S. department of agriculture than Japan. The U. S. government is selling its surplus cotton abroad at 25 per cent less than what American textile firms must pay, under the price support program.

American textile workers are protesting that on top of this advantage on the raw material, Japanese wages are only 14 to 22 cents an hour compared with the $1 minimum, but actually more than $2 an hour, in the U. S.

A third of Japan's slightly more than $1 billion exports to the U. S. are textiles and wearing apparel. Japan, to meet these protests, is offering voluntary quotas. She

This caused the protocol experts in California to do everything but raid their piggy banks to provide the proper hospitality for the royal visitors and their retinue which, incidentally, includes their four children, tutor, physician, chamberlain, luggage bearers, and household servants.

In a frantic effort to round up enough transportation for all 58 members of the royal party in Los Angeles, the State Department tried to beg some automobiles from the Air Force.

But the Air Force's Los Angeles office, also caught short of cash at the end of the fiscal year, could provide only one slightly battered vehicle from the government motor pool. Finally, four staff cars and a truck suitable for carrying baggage were commandeered from near-by Air Force bases.

But alas, the economy-pinched Air Force had no Cadillac fit for a king to ride in. To the embarrassment of the hosts, the Thai government was obliged to buy a Cadillac so the king could ride in style around Los Angeles. The Thailanders also purchased a Chevrolet as a perambulator for the royal children and rented four more cars to haul other members of the royal retinue.

Their majesties were assured, however, that there are plenty of Cadillacs in Washington where they are scheduled to arrive today. Thus reassured, they left their brand new Cadillac behind for the children who are staying in California.

Note—Who picks up the tab for these state visits is carefully prescribed by protocol. Since the royal stay in California was part vacation and only part official the Thais are expected to pay for their own room and board, though cars were supposed to be provided. The flight to Washington will be made in the presidential plane, Columbine, but the hotel bills during a stopover in Pittsburgh will be paid out of Thai pockets. In Washington, most of the expenses are supposed to be picked up by Uncle Sam.

Japan's Exports

By Leslie Gould

Japan, with half our population, is giving American manufacturers a hard run for their money, Leslie Gould, financial writer for The Cumberland News, reports today, in another article of his series on our leading Asian ally. He has just returned from a visit to that country.

agreed this year to voluntary quotas on textiles and stainless steel flatware exports to Canada. She did the same on transistor radios to the U. S.

Japan's stainless steel industry — once inconsequential — owes its present position to American aid. Aid was so directed as to develop a new industry for Japan. Now, there are protests.

Textiles are Japan's major export — more than $291 million in cotton textiles, $206 1/2 million in spun rayon fabrics, $102 million in silk and rayon fabrics, and $45 1/2 million in yarns.

The next biggest foreign exchange earner is shipbuilding — about $357 million last year. The volume of business, however, has declined drastically since the depression in the shipping market set in a year ago. Volume dropped last year to 800,000 tons from the peak of 2,800,000 in 1956. Volume is expected to drop further this year to 800,000 tons. The result is unemployment in this field.

Iron and steel exports — third in total — reached a quarter of a billion dollars last year, but part of this expansion was due to the steel strike in the U. S. Nevertheless, certain kinds of Japanese steel can be laid down on the West Coast cheaper than American-made products. The same on the East Coast and on the Great Lakes for German steel.

Japan's fastest growing industry is electronics, with two-thirds of last year's $800 million production going into exports. This year the industry should top the $1 billion mark, and double that in the next three years. Color TV is to be a big export.

More sewing machines are exported by Japan than any other country. So skilled are the Japanese in cameras and optical goods, that many American concerns are dicker for parts and even complete units to be made there. The latest American firm to enter such negotiations is Polaroid.

Mitsubishi Heavy Industries has just won the contract for 39 Diesel locomotives and three cranes for the Panama Canal on a $3,829,900 bid against $4,741,867 by Plymouth Locomotive Works of Plymouth, Ohio.

This kind of competition is not a one-way street. Japan is protesting that Red China silk is finding its way into Switzerland. An Italian firm is copying Sony's transistor radio.

Japan is only now relaxing rigid import restrictions. A Chevrolet Corvair costs $5,000 in Japan. This is due to duties and tax. Japan's Toyopet compact car sells in Tokyo for $2,778, but the export price is $1,209, plus freight and dealer's commission. Japan must export or die. She also must be kept out of the Communist camp. In the face of this, West Europe is threatening further trade discrimination against Japan. All of which puts the U. S. on the spot. If Japan is to stay out of the Communist fold, she must have a free world market for her goods.

(Next: Japan's greatest asset — her large, low paid but skilled labor force.)

Water Skiing Accidents Becoming Common

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Water skiing is fun, healthful, and made to order for red blooded Americans. But it is not innocuous and will continue to be more hazardous than snow skiing until it is better controlled. Accidents happen when the boats are driven carelessly or too fast and when the skier falls, strikes floating objects, gets entangled in the ropes, or hits the dock. Now and then drowning occurs.

Dr. Robert L. Romano and associates of Seattle say water skiing mishaps are becoming more frequent because of the greater number of boats operating ing in limited areas. They have seen many different types of injuries varying from simple sprains to death from electrocution. The latter occurred when the water skier leaned against a galvanized metal dock as he took off. There was a short circuit and he received a lethal shock.

Dislocations, bruises, cuts, and fractures are common, especially when falling into the water or hitting the dock at high speed. In some instances accidents are caused by errors on the part of the skier, whereas in others the driver is inattentive or misjudges speed and distance.

The tow rope also is a hazard, particularly when a loop gets caught around finger, arm, or leg as the skier takes off from the pier. Serious and permanent damage may take place. The ears and nose also take a beating when the person falls and water is forced into the sinuses or breaks the drum and gets into the inner ear.

The Seattle physicians suggest wearing a bathing cap or plugs to prevent ear damage. They believe many other accidents can be kept to a minimum by instructing the inexperienced skier on how to handle the rope on taking off, to prevent a coil from looping about arms or legs.

Two persons ought to be in the boat, one to drive and the other to watch the skier. Furthermore, they think it should be mandatory for all skiers to wear a lightweight life belt.

TOMORROW: Histoplasmosis.

PROMINENT BLADES

Mrs. C. writes: My 15 year old boy has good posture except for prominent shoulder blades, which make him look stooped-shouldered. Can this be corrected?

REPLY

The blades will become less prominent when he gains weight or becomes more muscular. Exercises such as rowing, pulling a spring apart, or chinning a bar will help develop the upper back muscles.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Somerset Maugham quit writing for the theatre many years ago, despite the fact that many of his plays had been big hits, and confined himself to turning out novels and essays. Asked why he had become disillusioned with the stage, Maugham stated bluntly that a few drama critics wielded entirely too much power to suit him. With a few crushing paragraphs, those critics could make a $400,000 theatrical investment worthless overnight.

"It is too difficult," admitted Maugham, "to please both the scullery maid sitting in the top balcony and the critic for the London Times at the same time. I believe I can write for either one—but please both, never!"

Their tastes are too dissimilar." Frank Sullivan reports that he had a fine day at the track recently: he sold his wrist watch for $15.

Joe Hemmis Sleeps in Hill Climb At Conesus Lake, N.Y.

1959 Champ Has Won 10 Of 14 Tests

Sets Another Hill Record; 5,000 See Empire State Meet

Joseph W. Hemmis, Cumberland motorcycle hill climber, who captured the United States and Canadian championships last year and also the national point scoring title, swept both professional events on a program at Conesus Lake, 27 miles south of Rochester, N. Y., on Sunday afternoon for his ninth and tenth wins in 14 starts this season.

The Cumberland slant rider has not been "out of the money" this season and in addition to his ten firsts he has finished second three and third once. 5,000 Witness Climb

Approximately 5,000 persons witnessed Sunday's hill climbing tests in the Empire State and saw Hemmis "steal the show" aboard his triumph motor.

Hemmis won the first event in 3.80 seconds, setting a new record for the hill. Gordon Mitzel, York, Pa., was second in 4.10, followed by Howard Mitzel, his father, in 4.38 and Charles Jacobs, of Wind Gap, Pa., in 4.77.

In the second event which Hemmis won his time was 4.02 seconds. Jacobs was second in 4.14. Gordon Mitzel, third, 4.19 and Howard Mitzel, fourth, 5.14.

Robert Judy, Cumberland rider, who was aboard an Indian machine, finished fourth in the amateur event Sunday at Conesus Lake.

Won Twice At York

On Sunday, June 19, Hemmis captured both professional tests in a hill climb at York, Pa.

He capped the first test in 6.11 seconds and was followed by Charles Jacobs (6.32), Andy Baycure, Pittsburgh (6.46) and Glenn Kyle, Goshen, Indiana (6.95). Hemmis' time for the second event was 6.13. Gordon Mitzel was second (6.31), Charles Jacobs, third (6.44) and Andy Baycure, fourth (6.73).

On Sunday, June 12, Hemmis took a first and second at Utica, N. Y.

Joe's next outing is Sunday when he plans to compete at Danville, Pa.

Bids Authorized On Post Office At Paw Paw

PAW PAW — Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced yesterday that a new post office has been authorized for Paw Paw.

The announcement coincides with the opening by Post Office Department regional officials of a site meeting department requirements as to cost, area and location. The site selected is located on the east side of Winchester Street, diagonally across from the present post office. Mrs. Ruth Bevans, of Paw Paw, is owner of the proposed site.

"This new and modern postal facility," Summerfield said, "will be constructed under the Post Office Department's Commercial Leasing Program, which utilizes the resources and investment funds of private enterprise to obtain needed postal buildings."

The new Paw Paw Post Office will contain about 3,245 square feet of floor space, plus a loading platform. The site, comprising about 14,400 square feet, will provide adequate parking and truck maneuvering areas.

According to Postmaster James H. Rouzee, bidding forms, specifications and other pertinent data will be available to prospective bidders at an early date, at which time the Post Office Department will advertise for bids. Thus an equitable construction value will be established on a competitive basis.

"The site option" Rouzee noted, "will be transferred to the successful bidder who will purchase the land, and then will construct the building to Post Office Department specifications and lease it to the Department on a long-term basis, with lease renewal options."

"More than 4,200 new post offices have been built since 1953 under the Post Office Department's Commercial Leasing Program," Summerfield said. "Because these postal buildings remain under private ownership while leased to the Federal Government, the lessor pays local real estate taxes."

"Furthermore, because the buildings are constructed with private investment funds, capital outlays by the Post Office Department are limited substantially to those for post office furniture and equipment."

"This new post office," he observed, "will be a major link in our newly-revitalized and modern postal service, aimed at an ultimate goal of next-day delivery of mail anywhere in the nation."

Bids Authorized On Post Office At Paw Paw

PAW PAW — Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced yesterday that a new post office has been authorized for Paw Paw.

The announcement coincides with the optioning by Post Office Department regional officials of a site meeting department requirements as to cost, area and location. The site selected is located on the east side of Winchester Street, diagonally across from the present post office. Mrs. Ruth Bevans, of Paw Paw, is owner of the proposed site.

"This new and modern postal facility," Summerfield said, "will be constructed under the Post Office Department's Commercial Leasing Program, which utilizes the resources and investment funds of private enterprise to obtain needed postal buildings."

The new Paw Paw Post Office will contain about 3,245 square feet of floor space, plus a loading platform. The site, comprising about 14,400 square feet, will provide adequate parking and truck maneuvering areas.

According to Postmaster James H. Rouzee, bidding forms, specifications and other pertinent data will be available to prospective bidders at an early date, at which time the Post Office Department will advertise for bids. Thus an equitable construction value will be established on a competitive basis.

"The site option," Rouzee noted, "will be transferred to the successful bidder who will purchase the land, and then will construct the building to Post Office Department specifications and lease it to the Department on a long-term basis, with lease renewal options."

"More than 4,200 new post offices have been built since 1953 under the Post Office Department's Commercial Leasing Program," Summerfield said. "Because these postal buildings remain under private ownership while leased to the Federal Government, the lessor pays local real estate taxes."

"Furthermore, because the buildings are constructed with private investment funds, capital outlays by the Post Office Department are limited substantially to those for post office furniture and equipment."

"This new post office," he observed, "will be a major link in our newly-revitalized and modern postal service, aimed at an ultimate goal of next-day delivery of mail anywhere in the nation."

After a generally good harvesting weather reports over the weekend, the U. S. In wheat, light hedging remained a factor, but the market was steady, but trade was light. The moderate hedging was believed to have stimulated short covering.

Corn remained mostly steady. July started at another seasonal low but the market rallied later and distant contracts sold above the previous close. Receipts were small. Commission houses sold Ex. port sales of 400,000 bushels to the United Kingdom were reported.

Oats declined under local selling prompted by the earlier weaker corn market and more favorable weather. Distant contracts were steady.

Soybeans were firm in a quiet market. Selling was scattered, under influence of weather and new prices. CCG sales overnight were 92,385 bushels.

Nearby rice futures rallied for firm levels, and new crop contracts were mostly steady.

Outside markets were mostly steady.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grain futures were generally higher Monday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was up  $\frac{1}{4}$  to corn off  $\frac{1}{4}$  to up  $\frac{1}{4}$ ; new oats off  $\frac{1}{4}$  to up  $\frac{1}{4}$ ; soybeans up  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{1}{2}$ .

After a generally good harvesting weather reports over the weekend, the U. S. Weather Bureau revised a weak outlook that moved out of the Gulf of Mexico into Texas over the weekend will drift toward southern Missouri and northeastward into Central Illinois Tuesday, and bring some locally heavy rainfall.

In wheat, light hedging remained a factor in a firm market. Prices advanced but trade was light. The moderate hedging was believed to have stimulated short covering.

Corn remained mostly steady. July started at another seasonal low but the market rallied later and distant contracts sold above the previous close. Receipts were small. Commission houses sold Export of 400,000 bushels to the United Kingdom were reported.

Oats declined under local selling prompted by the early weaker corn market and more favorable weather. Deferred contracts were steady.

Soybeans were firm in a quiet market. There was scattered buying in the weaker oil and meal prices. CCC sales overnight were 93,385 bushels.

Neary rice futures rallied to firm level and new crop contracts were mostly steady.

Outside markets were mostly steady. The range:

Hiking Doctor Should Reach Here Today

Markleysburg Stop Gives Her Rest

Dr. Barbara Moore should arrive in Cumberland sometime today if she keeps her present pace, the 56-year-old veterinarian, having rested for several hours at the Spear Rest Home in Markleysburg, Pa., before continuing her walk last night.

Dr. Moore walked over 40 miles yesterday, beginning about 20 miles west of Uniontown after an overnight stay at the White Swan Hotel in Uniontown. She was driven back 20 miles to Centerville, Pa., to resume her walk yesterday morning.

She stopped at Centerville to accept a ride from State Police in order to attend a reception in Uniontown and then returned to Centerville to resume her transcontinental hike.

By noon yesterday she had covered 26 miles with another 43 to go to reach Frostburg. She continued until she reached Markleysburg about 8 o'clock last night when she asked for a few hours rest at the Spear Rest Home.

Dr. Moore told the manager of the rest home she had "had a weary day," and wanted to stop to enjoy "the quietness of the area."

However, the Russian-born British physician left the rest home at midnight and said she planned to walk through the night. Still facing her are several mountain ranges which she must cross before reaching Cumberland.

Dr. Moore revised her earlier prediction that she would arrive in New York yesterday, adding she hoped to reach the end of her journey which began in San Francisco on April 13 by Wednesday.

However, as her route takes her eastward to Washington, D. C., thence to Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York, it appears the doctor will not be able to reach her destination by Wednesday at her present pace.

"I will walk day and night because my diet allows me to withstand such exertion," she declared, however.

Cheering crowds met her along the way as she began the tortuous climb over the Pennsylvania mountains yesterday and reports filtered into Cumberland last night that hundreds of interested persons are keeping a lookout for her along the way.

Library Board Discusses Plans Of Development

Miss Helen Clark, Baltimore, of the Division of Library Extension, State Department of Education, met with the Allegany County Library Board of Trustees last night and discussed preliminary plans for a bookmobile and operation of the county library system.

Dr. Adam Baer, Frostburg, board chairman, said that there was considerable discussion of merging the various county library branches into the county system, and plans were made for working out these details. Miss Mary G. Walsh, newly appointed county librarian, submitted budget figures based upon past experience of the Cumberland Library, and projected needs for the county system.

Final action on a completed budget was tabled until the next meeting, July 11 at 7:30 p.m. at the Court House.

The board designated the Liberty Trust Company and the Second National Bank as depositories for county library funds, and authorized the treasurer, James Alfred Avirett, to obtain information pertaining to the treasurer's bond.

Dr. Baer named John T. "Tucker" Mason and F. Allan Weatherholt as a committee to work with Miss Walsh in obtaining information, details and prices on the purchase of a bookmobile for the county.

It was decided to invite the library boards of Garrett and Washington counties to meet with the local group at a future date to exchange ideas and develop an area of cooperation.

Retires After 50 Years

Fifty years of railroading came to an end yesterday when C. W. Gilpin (center) stepped down from the cab of the diesel engine on Train No. 12 at Queen City Station after bringing the passenger train in on time. The B&O engineer is being congratulated by his fireman, Dayton L. Murphy, who also is a first cousin, upon completion of his final run between Grafton and Cumberland as the 68-year-old railroader retired from a job he has held since he was 18. Standing with Mr. Gilpin is his wife, Mrs. Ellen Gilpin, who met her husband as he finished his last day with the railroad.

B&O Engineer Concludes Half Century On Rails

C. W. Gilpin, 215 Pennsylvania Avenue, stepped from the cab of his diesel locomotive yesterday to end 50 years as a railroader with his retirement from the B&O.

On hand to greet the 68-year-old engineer were his wife, Mrs. Ellen Gilpin, and a son, William Gilpin, an accountant with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Mr. Gilpin brought his engine in on time as he finished a job he started on May 20, 1910, ending his career with the railroad on Train No. 12, a passenger train which runs from St. Louis to New York and arrives at the Cumberland Queen City Station at 8:25 p.m. Mr. Gilpin was at the throttle of the engine on the leg from Grafton to Cumberland, a run of three hours and two minutes.

Two hours later he was at his home on Pennsylvania Avenue, contentedly puffing on a pipe and contemplating the future with a rather sad countenance, as if he hated giving up a job he had done so long and so well.

Mrs. Gilpin, sitting across from her husband, said she was "glad it's over," but was "still sorry to see him retire." Then, laughingly she added that she thought she could keep him busy, "what with spring housecleaning to do."

Mr. Gilpin, an avid hunter and fisherman, hopes to pursue his hobbies, and since "I like to travel," wants to take a trip to California soon.

"I'd like to go to South America, too," he stated, "but it may be too dangerous with all the unrest in those areas."

Mr. Gilpin is a native of Garrett County as is his wife, the former Ellen Gilpin who was born in Beckman, near Swanton. The couple has two sons, William, and Robert, a sergeant with the Cumberland Police Department.

He began his career with the railroad in 1910 as a fireman after spending several years in the woods of Garrett County in lumber camps and at saw mills. In 1913 he was promoted to engineer after passing his examinations, and in 1918 was at the throttle of his first engine.

Mr. Gilpin ran freights and passenger trains on runs between Cumberland and Grafton, Cumberland and Fairmont, Washington, D.C., and Keyser, and others, never experiencing a major accident during his career.

He is a veteran of World War I when he saw service in the Navy aboard a transport. His brother, John Gilpin, a fireman, was killed in a railroad accident at Piedmont, in 1924.

Man Is Injured In Auto Accident

Donald Duckworth, 27, of 16 Arch Street, sustained a broken collarbone yesterday afternoon in a spectacular automobile accident on Oldtown Road.

Duckworth was identified as the operator of a car which failed to negotiate a curve about a mile south of Cumberland, ran along an embankment, swerved across the highway to hit a telephone pole, then flipped over a small embankment.

Trooper J. W. Leichter investigated and placed a charge of "speed too great" against Duckworth. The trooper said a passenger in the car, Donald Longenecker, 24, of Ridgeley, was unhurt.

Duckworth was treated at Memorial Hospital and released.

Water Use Normal

Water consumption last week averaged 14,165,000 gallons daily. Two inches of water was flowing over Lake Gordon and an inch over the spillway of Lake Koon.

Jr. Red Cross Chests Sent To Aid Chile

County Students Assist In Disaster

School chests from Fort Hill and Beall High schools are on their way to Chile to help thousands of youngsters whose families were left destitute by the recent earthquakes and tidal wave disaster.

Mrs. Sara G. Lindsay, executive secretary of the Allegany County Chapter of the American Red Cross, said yesterday the county chapter had been notified by Red Cross National Headquarters, Washington, D. C., that chests made and filled by local Junior Red Cross members were among a shipment of 150 chests which left recently for Chile.

The chests were filled with educational, health and recreational supplies urgently needed in the disaster-stricken area about 600 miles south of Santiago.

In addition to the chests, Junior Red Cross members also sent gift boxes containing health items.

An appropriation of $25,000 also has been authorized from Junior American Red Cross Children's Fund for emergency needs of Chilean youth.

Reports from a seven-man American Red Cross disaster team now in Chile report a great many of the country's schools have been leveled by the series of quakes and that the materials in the chests will be helpful in meeting emergency needs of students.

Book On Biblical Ruins Among New Volumes

A number of new and interesting books are available at the Cumberland Free Public Library.

For those who are interested in archeology and the Biblical ruins of the Middle East, Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, recommends "The Bible Was My Treasure Map" by Paul Ilton. This is an exciting account of the author's adventures in excavating ruins from almost every major Biblical period.

Outstanding among the recently added books is "Grant Moves South" by Bruce Catton. The military biography, by the author of "This Hallowed Ground" and "A Stillness At Appomattox," is a portrait of the Union General from 1861 through the Vicksburg campaign. Readers of Mr. Catton's previous books will not be disappointed with this one, according to Miss Elizabeth Cain, an assistant to Miss Walsh.

Bible teachers will be pleased to know that the library now has "The Douglass Sunday School Lessons for 1960." This commen-

State To Stick With Kennedy, Governor Says

Brushes Aside Report On Dumping Plan

By LOUIS G. PANOS

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes brushed aside reports Monday that Maryland delegates to the Democratic National Convention plan to dump Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) after the first presidential nominating ballot.

"I feel that we have an obligation, by virtue of his overwhelming victory in the Maryland primary, to stick by Sen. Kennedy as long as he has a chance to win the nomination," said Tawes.

The governor made the statement in a telephone interview from his home here, where he has been confined since his release June 20 from University Hospital. He had undergone abdominal surgery in the hospital June 10.

Tawes, leader of the Maryland delegation with 24 votes at the convention, said he was "backing up" State Party Chairman Thomas B. Finan. The chairman last week insisted there was no truth to reports in State political circles that the delegation planned to leave Kennedy after the first ballot.

To Keep In Touch

Similar reports were heard earlier Monday at the governors conference in Montana.

The governor said only an obvious decline of Kennedy strength would cause Maryland to switch on the second or later ballots.

"We'll be in close touch with the situation," Tawes added, "but we certainly would not jump unless the storm signals were showing for Kennedy."

Before Kennedy's record-breaking victory in the May 17 Maryland presidential primary, he had been mildly endorsed by Tawes—but only for that race against Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.). The governor had earlier given intimates the impression he personally preferred Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) or Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.).

An Associated Press poll of the 71-member delegation, composed of 48 delegates with 1/2 vote each and 23 alternates, drew replies from 48 members, with 26 naming Kennedy as their first choice.

Twenty-eight said that, if they had to bet now on the outcome of contest for the nomination, they would put their money on Kennedy.

List Preference

Besides the 26 giving Kennedy their first choice pick, eight named him as their second choice and three as their third preference.

Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) drew eight No. 1 preferences each. Stevenson was the second choice of five respondents and the third choice of two others. Symington got seven No. 2 selections and 10 as the third choice.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) was the first preference of three delegates, and three said they were undecided about their favorite.

Johnson was the No. 2 choice of 14 and the third choice of 8.

Some delegates expressed no second or third preference.

Others, like Major J. Harold Grady and former Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro Jr. of Baltimore, said Kennedy was their first, second and third choice.

Still others, like Baltimore Comptroller R. Walter Graham Jr., suggested that it was useless to indicate any preference at all because Gov. Tawes controls the delegation.

"Asking the delegates what they're going to do is like asking whether the moon is made of green cheese," he said, "because they're going to do what the governor wants them to do."

Fayette Street Job To Be Finished Today

Final work on the resurfacing of Fayette Street will be completed today by the Cumberland Contracting Company.

Crews yesterday applied part of the finish coat on the stretch between Tilghman Street and the B&O Railroad bridge.

Bike Safety Urged Over Holiday

Police Chief Instructs Riders

Bike riders in Cumberland were warned to exercise caution and observe all traffic rules during the heavily-traveled three-day Fourth of July holiday by Police Chief B. F. Gaffney.

Chief Gaffney noted that all through streets would be heavily traveled and urged all cyclists to confine their riding to less crowded secondary streets and roads during the peak traffic hours.

"Bike riders should make an effort to avoid heavily-traveled traffic arteries during the peak traffic lead hours at all times," the Chief said, "and in particular should avoid primary traffic areas during this weekend."

The local police official stated bike riding has grown in popularity in recent years, and stressed the necessity of heeding all traffic rules and regulations on the part of cyclists.

"A bike is a vehicle," he said, "and is required to obey all traffic rules and regulations."

He added that riders should wear light-colored clothing at night, equip their bikes with the proper signalling and lighting equipment and be sure that their brakes are in good operating condition.

Chief Gaffney reminded bike riders that bike riding enters its most intensive period during the summer vacation period and urged all bike owners to be sure their two-wheelers are in good mechanical condition for a summer of care-free riding fun.

Chopping Ends Boys' Vacation

Three teen-aged boys literally chopped their way out of a vacation this past weekend.

Assistant State Forester William H. Johnson said the youths had gone to Swallow Falls forest recreation area for a week's vacation.

On their first day there, the boys' parents left them alone at their campsite for several hours. Left to themselves the youths promptly chopped down several sapling trees, stripped the bark from several others and almost chopped through a small utility pole carrying telephone lines to forest headquarters at Swallow Falls.

The damage was discovered by forest foreman John Foley who investigated and discovered the three youths who went on the rampage with their axes.

Taking the youths into custody, the forester located their parents and detailed the results of the youths' chopping binge.

After apologizing for their sons' actions and paying damages, the parents promptly cancelled their vacation and took them home—probably to face additional punishment.

Tax Collector Receives Nearly $175,000 In Day

Tax Collector William B. Orndorff received nearly $175,000 in Allegany County and state real estate and personal property taxes yesterday in what was described by Mr. Orndorff as the biggest collection this month.

Although the county tax rate is two-cents less than last year, the collections for June are running several hundred thousand dollars ahead of last year when the tax office received $2,901,604.63 in June. This was approximately 84 per cent of the 1959 levy, Mr. Orndorff said.

He added that mailed checks or money orders will simplify the collections and will enable the taxpayers to avoid delay and standing around at the Court House to pay their taxes at the tax collector's office.

Mr. Orndorff noted that there are four days remaining for property owners to take advantage of the five per cent discount for June which ends Thursday.

Boat Owners In No Hurry To Get Permits

Deadline July 3 To License Crafts

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Maryland boat owners don't seem to be in any hurry to license their craft under the new State Boat Act.

Thomas H. White, supervisor of boat registration, said Monday that slightly over 40,000 applications have been received to date.

The figure represents less than half of the 95,000 to 125,000 boats expected to come under the provisions of the new law which goes into effect July 3.

White said 29,000 applications have been processed, an estimated 10,000 returned for further information and the remainder are in the works.

Officials of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission said there are no plans to extend the licensing deadline.

White explained that the "public seems to be under the impression that the Coast Guard registration is still in effect." He said that persons licensing their boats with the Coast Guard must also have a license from the State.

White earlier had warned of an expected crush this week. But his morning's mail had only 1,600 applications—about par for a weekend. The fisheries official said it takes up to 48 hours to process applications and reminded those holding off until the last minute that they may not receive their license in time.

Owners of motor boats over 7½ horsepower and sailboats over 25 feet are required to register them. Boats not licensed by the July 3 deadline will be subject to fines of up to $200.

Firemen To Put New Engine In Ladder Truck

Quick Assembly Job Is Being Planned

The Cumberland Fire Department expects to install a new engine and clutch assembly in its 85-foot aerial ladder truck this week, according to Fire Chief Virgil Parker.

He said plans call for the work to be completed in from eight to 10 hours.

The installation will be made by Lt. Harold McDonald, department mechanic, and Chief Parker said plenty of help will be on hand so the ladder truck will be back in service as soon as possible.

Big ladders carried on the truck, he said, will be available in case an emergency arises while the new engine is being installed.

Chief Parker said the Seagrave firm shipped the engine and clutch from the factory last Tuesday by motor express and that delivery is expected this week.

The new engine, he said, will have a rating of about 250 horsepower, about 50 more than the present engine delivers, and is expected to increase the usefulness of the ladder truck.

The present original engine is 11 years old, he said, and is beginning to cost. He added it would be only a matter of time until the engine needed a major overhauling which would take several weeks.

Chief Parker estimated the new engine assembly will cost about $4,000 and will put the ladder truck in top shape.

The ladder cost $32,000 when it was purchased and sells for about $50,000 now, the fire chief said.

Jr. Red Cross Chests Sent To Aid Chile

County Students Assist In Disaster

School chests from Fort Hill and Beall High schools are on their way to Chile to help thousands of youngsters whose families were left destitute by the recent earthquakes and tidal wave disaster.

Mrs. Sara G. Lindsay, executive secretary of the Allegheny County Chapter of the American Red Cross, said yesterday the county chapter had been notified by Red Cross National Headquarters, Washington, D. C., that chests made and filled by local Junior Red Cross members were among a shipment of 150 chests which left recently for Chile.

The chests were filled with educational, health and recreational supplies urgently needed in the disaster-stricken area about 600 miles south of Santiago.

In addition to the chests, Junior Red Cross members also sent gift boxes containing health items.

An appropriation of $25,000 also has been authorized from Junior American Red Cross Children's Fund for emergency needs of Chilean youth.

Reports from a seven-man American Red Cross disaster team now in Chile report a great many of the country's schools have been leveled by the series of quakes and that the materials in the chests will be helpful in meeting emergency needs of students.

Book On Biblical Ruins Among New Volumes

A number of new and interesting books are available at the Cumberland Free Public Library.

For those who are interested in archeology and the Biblical ruins of the Middle East, Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, recommends "The Bible Was My Treasure Map" by Paul Ilton. This is an exciting account of the author's adventures in excavating relics from almost every major Biblical period.

Outstanding among the recently added books is "Grant Moves South" by Bruce Catton. The military biography, by the author of "This Hallowed Ground" and "A Stillness At Appomattox," is a portrait of the Union General from 1861 through the Vicksburg campaign. Readers of Mr. Catton's previous books will not be disappointed with this one, according to Miss Elizabeth Cain, an assistant to Miss Walsh.

Bible teachers will be pleased to know that the library now has "The Douglass Sunday School Lessons for 1960." This commentary on the International Sunday School lessons will, no doubt, prove helpful to both the veteran and less experienced teachers. The 1959 annual also is available. "Washington's Lady" is considered by many to be the finest book Elsworth Thane has ever written. After years of research, this author has presented an excellent and authentic story of the life of Martha Washington together with many revealing anecdotes of her famous husband, Miss Cain reports.

"Three Against The Wilderness" by Eric Collier is the vivid account of a modern pioneer family in the primitive wilderness of British Columbia. This volume is illustrated with photographs and map line drawings.

The library's new readers, especially the boys, will be pleased with "The Sea Warriors" by Herbert Best. The small fry will like "Indian Two Feet And His Horse" by Friskey and "Brown Cow Farm" by Ipcar.

State To Stick With Kennedy, Governor Says

Brushes Aside Report On Dumping Plan

By LOUIS G. PANOS

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes brushed aside reports Monday that Maryland delegates to the Democratic National Convention plan to dump Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) after the first presidential nominating ballot.

"I feel that we have an obligation, by virtue of his overwhelming victory in the Maryland primary, to stick by the Maryland primary, as long as he has a chance to win the nomination," said Tawes.

The governor made the statement in a telephone interview from his home here, where he has been confined since his release June 20 from University Hospital. He had undergone abdominal surgery in the hospital June 10.

Tawes, leader of the Maryland delegation with 24 votes at the convention, said he was "backing up" State Party Chairman Thomas B. Finan. The chairman last week insisted there was no truth to reports in State political circles that the delegation planned to leave Kennedy after the first ballot.

Similar reports were heard earlier Monday at the governors conference in Montana.

The governor said only an obvious decline of Kennedy strength would cause Maryland to switch on the second or later ballots.

"We'll be in close touch with the situation," Tawes added, "but we certainly would not jump unless the storm signals were showing for Kennedy."

Before Kennedy's record-breaking victory in the May 17 Maryland presidential primary, he had been mildly endorsed by Tawes—but only for that race against Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.). The governor had earlier given intimates the impression he personally preferred Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) or Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.).

An Associated Press poll of the 71-member delegation, composed of 48 delegates with 1/2 vote each and 23 alternates, drew replies from 48 members, with 26 naming Kennedy as their first choice.

Twenty-eight said that, if they had to bet now on the outcome of the contest for the nomination, they would put their money on Kennedy.

Besides the 26 giving Kennedy their first choice pick, eight named him as their second choice and three as their third preference.

Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) drew eight No. 1 preferences each, Stevenson was the second choice of five respondents and the third choice of two others. Symington got seven No. 2 selections and 10 as the third choice.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) was the first preference of three delegation members, and three said they were undecided about their favorite.

Johnson was the No. 2 choice of 14 and the third choice of 8.

Some delegates expressed no second or third preference.

Others, like Major J. Harold Grady and former Mayor Thomas D'Alessandro Jr. of Baltimore, said Kennedy was their first, second and third choice.

Still others, like Baltimore Comptroller R. Walter Graham Jr., suggested that it was useless to indicate any preference at all because Gov. Tawes controls the delegation.

"Asking the delegates what they're going to do is like asking whether the moon is made of green cheese," he said, "because they're going to do what the governor wants them to do."

Bike Safety Urged Over Holiday

Police Chief Instructs Riders

Bike riders in Cumberland were warned to exercise caution and observe all traffic rules during the heavily-traveled three-day Fourth of July holiday by Police Chief B. F. Gaffney.

Chief Gaffney noted that all through streets would be heavily traveled and urged all cyclists to confine their riding to less crowded secondary streets and roads during the peak traffic hours.

"Bike riders should make an effort to avoid heavily-traveled traffic arteries during the peak traffic lead hours at all times," the Chief said, "and in particular should avoid primary traffic areas during this weekend."

The local police official stated bike riding has grown in popularity in recent years, and stressed the necessity of heeding all traffic rules and regulations on the part of cyclists.

"A bike is a vehicle," he said, "and is required to obey all traffic rules and regulations."

He added that riders should wear light-colored clothing at night, equip their bikes with the proper signalling and lighting equipment and be sure that their brakes are in good operating condition.

Chief Gaffney reminded bike riders that bike riding enters its most intensive period during the summer vacation period and urged all bike owners to be sure their two-wheelers are in good mechanical condition for a summer of care-free riding fun.

Chopping Ends Boys' Vacation

Three teen-aged boys literally chopped their way out of a vacation this past weekend.

Assistant State Forester William H. Johnson said the youths had gone to Swallow Falls forest recreation area for a week's vacation.

On their first day there, the boys' parents left them alone at their campsite for several hours. Left to themselves the youths promptly chopped down several sapling trees, stripped the bark from several others and almost chopped through a small utility pole carrying telephone lines to forest headquarters at Swallow Falls.

The damage was discovered by forest foreman John Foley who investigated and discovered the three youths who went on the rampage with their axes.

Taking the youths into custody, the forester located their parents and detailed the results of the youths' chopping binge.

After apologizing for their sons' actions and paying damages, the parents promptly cancelled their vacation and took them home—probably to face additional punishment.

Tax Collector Receives Nearly $175,000 In Day

Tax Collector William B. Orndorff received nearly $175,000 in Allegheny County and state real estate and personal property taxes yesterday in what was described by Mr. Orndorff as the biggest collection this month.

Although the county tax rate is two-cents less than last year, the collections for June are running several hundred thousand dollars ahead of last year when the tax office received $2,901,604.63 in June. This was approximately 84 per cent of the 1959 levy, Mr. Orndorff said.

He added that mailed checks or money orders will simplify the collections and will enable the taxpayers to avoid delay and standing around at the Court House to pay their taxes at the tax collector's office.

Mr. Orndorff noted that there are three days remaining for property owners to take advantage of the five per cent discount for June which ends Thursday.

Boat Owners In No Hurry To Get Permits

Deadline July 3 To License Crafts

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Maryland boat owners don't seem to be in any hurry to license their craft under the new State Boat Act.

Thomas H. White, supervisor of boat registration, said Monday that slightly over 40,000 applications have been received to date.

The figure represents less than half of the 95,000 to 125,000 boats expected to come under the provisions of the new law which goes into effect July 3.

White said 29,000 applications have been processed, an estimated 10,000 returned for further information and the remainder are in the works.

Officials of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission said there are no plans to extend the licensing deadline.

White explained that the "public seems to be under the impression that the Coast Guard registration is still in effect." He said that persons licensing their boats with the Coast Guard must also have a license from the State.

White earlier had warned of an expected crush this week. But his morning's mail had only 1,600 applications—about par for a week-end. The fisheries official said it takes up to 48 hours to process applications and reminded those holding off until the last minute that they may not receive their license in time.

Owners of motor boats over 7½ horsepower and sailboats over 25 feet are required to register them. Boats not licensed by the July 3 deadline will be subject to fines of up to $200.

Firemen To Put New Engine In Ladder Truck

Quick Assembly Job Is Being Planned

The Cumberland Fire Department expects to install a new engine and clutch assembly in its 85-foot aerial ladder truck this week, according to Fire Chief Virgil Parker.

He said plans call for the work to be completed in from eight to 10 hours.

The installation will be made by Lt. Harold McDonald, department mechanic, and Chief Parker said plenty of help will be on hand so the ladder truck will be back in service as soon as possible.

Big ladders carried on the truck, he said, will be available in case an emergency arises while the new engine is being installed.

Chief Parker said the Seagrave firm shipped the engine and clutch from the factory last Tuesday by motor express and that delivery is expected this week.

The new engine, he said, will have a rating of about 250 horsepower, about 50 more than the present engine delivers, and is expected to increase the usefulness of the ladder truck.

The present original engine is 11 years old, he said, and is beginning to cost. He added it would be only a matter of time until the engine needed a major overhauling which would take several weeks.

Chief Parker estimated the new engine assembly will cost about $4,000 and will put the ladder truck in top shape.

The ladder cost $32,000 when it was purchased and sells for about $50,000 now, the fire chief said.
